Almoner Bill Harris reported; Brian Wilkins still in hospital though hoping to be home soon.

Guest speaker Jodie Quinnell from Barnardo's Bushfire Recovery Support Service.

This service has been funded through Resilience NSW. Jodie spoke on the service and how the service is operated. The service has received 170 referrals in the past 4 months and is expecting more. As the main source of referrals are from SCC Bushfire recovery team as staff contact Bushfire affected people, providing support through case management meeting people face to face, and assisting people to recovery by walking with them on their journey.

The service also assists people with applying for grants and sourcing avenues of assistance to recovery from the bushfires, and rebuild their lives through matching people to services including free Bushfire counselling through Catholic Care. Jodie's main concern at the moment is housing. As the area is going into holiday letting season many houses that residences of the area who lost their home have been living in, could be rented as Holiday rental, as a result rental property are going to at a premium. As people are trying to move forward the service are assisting people with moving forward. Impact of bushfires is a many layered recovery for effected communities.
